

Location (Superintendent Training Only): NYC Seminar and Conference Center, 114 W. 26th Street, New York, NY 10010

Location (All remaining classes): IWLU 580 Training Center, 37-31 30th Street, Long Island City, NY 11101

Schedule:

7:00 – 8:00 AM Hot Breakfast
8:00 AM – 11:30 AM Class
11:30 AM – 12:30 PM Lunch
12:30 – 4:00 PM Class

Contact:

Mike Hess, IMPACT Eastern Regional Director,
mhess@impact-net.org; 202-705-0275

Dr. Cindy Menches, P.E.
IMPACT Director of Professional Development & Training
1750 New York Avenue NW
Washington, D.C. 20006
cmenches@impact-net.org
www.impact-net.org
O: 202-393-1147
C: 202-294-1474

Superintendent Training for Ironworkers

Mar 17-21, 2025: Ironworker superintendents are responsible for implementing an efficient site production process and maximizing profit while minimizing company liability. This 5-day class is designed to develop skilled ironworker superintendents. To register, click here: Link

Construction Contracting Business Fundamentals Academy

Mar 17-21, 2025 : This five-day academy is an intensive program designed for current and future ironworking contractors who want to develop or improve their fundamental business skills. This program will provide the business foundation that will strengthen a contractor's ability to be profitable during the early startup or transition of their company To register, click here: Link

Dale Carnegie's How to Win Friends and Influence People

March 18-19, 2025: Interpersonal relationships are important in today's business world, but it can be difficult to balance leadership and likability. During this course, you will learn Dale Carnegie's method for creating a friendly and open communication environment where people want to work harder together. You will learn to lead with actions and words, and you'll inspire commitment and motivate people to use their natural strengths to reach new levels of performance.. To register, click here: Link

Making Your Conversations Memorable

March 20, 2025: It's not just what you say, it's how you say it. Whether you realize it or not, your communication skills are constantly being judged by others. How you communicate in everything from casual conversations to formal presentations can be the difference between success and failure. Don't miss an opportunity to connect and leave a lasting impression. This highly interactive, hands-on 1-day workshop teaches effective ways to communicate your message to a wide variety of audiences in a diverse array of situations. To register, click here: Link